I am pleased to stand for re-election to OCNI's Board of Directors, after two years of serving you as a Board Member. Many of you have known me from a long career in the nuclear industry here in Canada – for those that don't, I look forward to meeting you. I have been an active participant with OCNI since the early 1990s (when I first joined AECL).

I believe that I have much to continue to offer the OCNI membership as a Board member, and look forward to continue what was started two years ago, to be the voice of the broader membership community. I have worked for large companies in this industry, but have also partnered with, subcontracted to and consulted for, small and medium sized entities, and will use the knowledge and significant network of contacts gained over the years to assist our small, medium and large members thrive in the years to come.

My experience in the nuclear industry is deep and broad – from financial management to international and domestic marketing to project financing to QA to business development to proposal development and contract negotiation to strategic and operations planning. I have significant experience in the areas that OCNI has assessed to be needed and valuable for the Board to best promote the growth of their membership.

I will continue to look for opportunities that will benefit the broader OCNI membership both here in Canada and abroad, and look for opportunities to connect member companies to each other where it makes sense for them – and for our customers.

I strongly believe that the membership has excellent representation on the OCNI Board, and would like to continue to build upon the good work already underway in advancing the interests of its members – both in Canada and globally.

I hope that you will consider re-electing me for a second term to represent you on OCNI's Board of Directors.

Best Regards,
Doug Brophy
