

Eric Goodman is a graduate from Western University with a degree in Organizational Behaviour and Human Resources. After graduation he spent almost 2 years working at RBC in Personal Finance before pursuing a career in the Engineering / Technical Recruitment field. He has held a number of positions while at Morson International Inc. (Previously Commissioning & Technical Services N.A. Ltd / CTSNA) starting as a Technical Recruiter before holding the roles of Account Manager then Operations Manager and he currently holds the role of Vice President, Operations & Nuclear Business Development. Morson International has been a proud supporter of OCNI for over 12 years now and Eric has attended dozens of OCNI Events including Supplier's Day (Bruce Power, OPG, SNC, CNL) Golf tournaments and Holiday Parties. Throughout his career with Morson he has helped placed 100's of contractors within OPG, Bruce Power and many other member companies of OCNI. Eric is very passionate about the Nuclear industry and serves as a Promoter of Nuclear Energy wherever he goes. He is very excited about this opportunity to become a member of the OCNI board and to share in their goal of promoting a healthy and robust nuclear power industry within Canada. When he is not busy working, he enjoys wood working, renovation projects and enjoying time with his son Liam and daughter Anna.
