

CARL DANIEL

I will bring experience and knowledge from the utility and the supplier community, and provide both insights and perspectives from each position. I have held several roles within the nuclear industry and offer a broad base of knowledge and experiences that will help with direction setting when deciding on options. In my career I have utilized many different tools to help solve problems and improve situations to benefit the areas of my responsibility using innovative methods and lessons learned.

From my work in the private sector I have learned a lot about business operations and motivations. I will use this valuable insight and previous funding experience to assist OCNI in attracting and retaining membership.

OCNI has provided the nuclear industry with updates, event engagement, and programs that continue to inspire the next generation of nuclear. I look forward to working with the membership to ensure the strong, cohesive voice in the development of a clear nuclear policy and the business/economic development in Canada continues.

I look forward to helping OCNI benefit the nuclear industry.
